

Bidder Ends

Annual auction benefits Good Samaritan Fund

by Becky Fitzgerald, Development Director

Everyone knows that auctions speak louder than words -- that's because of the auction-ears!

Our talented auctioneer, Vern Gannon of Gannon Auctions, is sure to keep his eyes and ears open on Saturday, Sept. 22, when he picks up his microphone at Meadowlark Foundation's 4th annual estate-style auction. The event begins at 10 a.m. in the Utopia Room of St. Thomas More Catholic Church, 2900 Kimball Ave. Proceeds benefit the Good Samaritan Fund, which assists residents in Meadowlark Hills healthcare households who have outlived their financial resources.

Items sold at this auction have been donated by Meadowlark residents, family members and staff. Collecting items for the 2018 auction literally began the day of the auction last September, and many cheerful givers have followed. A variety of chairs, tables, desks, dressers, beds, collectibles and décor items await the auction block.

Once again, Gannon and Pat Callaghan, who is at Meadowlark almost weekly moving furniture in and out, are donating their services so that more auction revenue will go toward the fund.

For the second year, our Manhattan Hy-Vee store is supplying breakfast and lunch items for the auction café, so come hungry with a few dollars in your pocket and watch or participate in the lively bidding. There's sure to be a treasure to suit you!

In addition to indoor and outdoor furniture and household items, such as decorative glassware, rugs and artwork (decorative and fine art), gently used large and small appliances, clocks, holiday items, etc., may be donated again this year. Residents and other friends of Meadowlark, such as Passport members and family, are invited to bring auction donations to Miller Place apt. 134, which is just off the breezeway. "Real" and costume jewelry generated more than $3000 at the 2018 auction, and Gannon said interest in jewelry remains strong. If you have gemstone pieces or costume jewelry that you no longer wear or need, please consider supporting our worthy cause.

Donations will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 14, and from 2 to 4 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 20. We will not collect clothing, shoes, books or outdated electronic equipment, such as video cassette recorders and large, boxy TVs. Flat-screen models are welcome.

Please contact Becky, Development Director, at 323-3843 if you have large or heavy donations that cannot be brought to #134 and/or you would like to volunteer prior to or at the auction. Volunteers are needed during the donation drop-off time to accept and sort the contributions. On Friday, Sept. 21, we'll be at the church unpacking the small items and arranging them for sale, and on Saturday, Sept. 22, volunteers are needed to show off the small items and sell items at the concession stand.

Finally, St. Thomas More allows us to use their event space in exchange for a donation, so gifts by cash or check to share with the church are also welcome. Meadowlark Foundation greatly appreciates these contributions in all their forms, and we look forward to another successful event to benefit our Good Samaritan Fund.
